SIRENA 118

Sirena Yachts presents the Sirena 118, developed in collaboration with Germán Frers and Cor D. Rover. The core idea behind the project was to scale up Sirena's signature approach to functional, comfortable cruising yachts, while preserving the brand's familiar layout logic and recognizable hull identity.

Designed for large families and groups of friends, the model is arranged to ensure that owners can still enjoy complete privacy. Spaces flow naturally from one to another, with well-planned circulation and thoughtfully placed social areas that make movement between decks intuitive and comfortable.

The Sirena 118 accommodates up to 12 guests in six cabins. The owner's suite features panoramic views and direct access to the forward terrace. The remaining guest cabins are located on the lower deck, each with its own ensuite bathroom. The crew quarters are set in a separate service area connected to the engine room and technical spaces, ensuring a clear division between guest and operational zones.

At anchor, the aft deck expands via fold-out bulwarks, while the hydraulic platform provides easy access to the tender and water toys. All interior and exterior areas are unified by a common philosophy: seamless interaction with the sea and the ability to adapt each space to different styles of relaxation.
